

$3300 Scholarships for Incoming Freshmen Men attending NDSU

Application deadline: March 1, 2022

FarmHouse Fraternity alumni have established an endowment that provides six $3300 scholarships to incoming male freshmen students at North Dakota State University for the 2022-2023 academic year. The scholarships will not be based primarily on scholarship, but rather a demonstration of FarmHouse Fraternity values, i.e., intellectual, spiritual, social and moral development. Scholarship applications are available at ndsufarmhouse.org and are due by March 1, 2022.

Preference will be given to someone who demonstrates the characteristics of “grit”—resilience, a strong work ethic, direction, desire to succeed, and perseverance. A qualified recipient must demonstrate that his circumstances and accomplishments, when combined with financial aid and determination, will result in a high likelihood of graduation from NDSU in four years.

About FarmHouse Fraternity

The North Dakota State University chapter of FarmHouse (FH) Fraternity was established in 1955. FH is noted for maintaining one of the highest grade-point-averages at NDSU and does not allow alcohol in the fraternity house or at any other functions. Membership represents a wide variety of majors, such as agriculture, engineering, business, and political science. For more information, visit ndsufarmhouse.org.

Application deadline: March 1, 2022.

Applications available at ndsufarmhouse.org